Legal Aid lawyers threaten to strike

June 18, 2008 Edition 2

Staff Reporter

Union representatives of the Legal Aid Board lawyers are to meet board management tomorrow and have threatened to go ahead with a strike if the outcome of the meeting is not "satisfactory".

Advocate Ben van der Walt, general secretary of the SA Parastatal and Tertiary Institution Union (Saptu), representing the lawyers, said the meeting was due to take place at the LAB head office in Braamfontein in Johannesburg.

Van der Walt said the lawyers represented the "poorest of the poor" and, with the downward spiralling economy, they were battling to survive on their current salary packages.

They had been waiting since February for new salary scales to be implemented.

Van der Walt said the services of the LAB were not deemed essential services and they had the "full right to strike".
